Call for Standbys:

No one volunteered to standby for England in 1983II, and he missed his moves again. Accordingly I need a standby for England Fall 1909 if he misses his moves. The first acceptable person (usual standards) to submit orders will get the position if the player NMRs.

KGO is an independent hobby service, continuously published since its founding in 1974, associated with the Diplomacy Hobby Services division of the New York Game Board, the Registry of Projects, the KGO Zine Directory, the Orphan Games Projects, the Miller Number Custodian under the Covenant, and the Boardman Number Custodian's Staff (though I expect not for too much longer).

This listing includes multi-player diplomatic play-by-mail games with information not more than 3 months old. A typical listing consists of:

Publisher Name, Address, City State COUNTRY Code

ZINE NAME, frequency*, costs (( Month updated ))

GAME (restrictions, details, different costs), Variant Notes

*frequency is usually in terms of "w"= weeks, "m"= monthly

To update, add, or correct an entry, send information to

Robert E Sacks, 4861 Broadway 5-V, NY NY 10034

Distribution: BNC, MNC, VBNC, OGP, The Orphanage, Zine Directory, Diplomacy Introductory Publication, Census, Novice Project, Avalon Hill, The Appalachian General, Bushwacker, Expletive Deleted, Give Me a Weapon!, Hansard, North Seal, West George, Politesse, The Razor's Edge, Tacky. CGC, any publisher who requests it for publication with attribution, anyone sending a self-addressed stamped envelope.

All entries in KGO have been voluntarily provided by the GM or publisher, either directly or as part of a zine received by the Registrar of KGO or his staff. Permission is given to persons doing a competing listing to use KGO only as a basis for contacting the publishers listed. Permission is given to any person not doing a competing listing to reprint entirely, or to excerpt with attribution, for the benefit of their readers.

Among the actions taken by the New York Game Board (with respect to the Diplomacy hobby) at the January 4th meeting were the adoption of the Joint Statute on Registration and Recognition, holding the MNC (Karel Alaric's) share of proceeds and existing funds until his performance can be evaluated, banning any transfer of funds to DW, NAVB, or any subsidiary, suspending Caruso from the Hobby Services division for nonfeasance, and asking Wrobel (the nominated Deputy Registrar of Projects) to recommend action on Cenaus & Ombudsman.

NYClone has had to relocate due to renovation. It will probably be held July 11-13 at the Hyatt Regency New Brunswick. Atlanticon will be held June 19-22 at Trenton State College; Pax Britannica will be held Friday, Diplomacy Saturday and Sunday.

NYGB Registry of Projects Joint Statute on Registration and Recognition

1. There is a distinction between registration or recognition as the hobby project for a given function, and NYGB recognition, approval, sponsorship or funding. This statute establishes the criteria. The NYGB and the Registry of Projects strongly believe that where there is no question that an existing project has valid title, a new project requesting NYGB approval or funding should not claim the same title; to this end requests to substitute a similar project with a different name for a funding recipient will be considered. Between meetings of the NYGB, the Secretary may act on the advice of the Registrar of Projects.
2. An officer shall be suspended from the distribution of NYGB funds (whether from the Tournament, donation, or other sources), and from membership in the Diplomacy Hobby Services division, if any of the following conditions are met:
  - a) the office is conducted for private gain
  - b) payment, trade, or other value is required for the provision of the services of the office (except for subscriptions for publications or the inexpensive sale of variants or similar items)
  - c) the officer resigns from or denies membership in the Diplomacy Hobby Services division
  - d) the officer unethically misrepresents the standing, position, or composition of the NYGB, its Diplomacy Hobby Services division, Tournament or other activities, or the Registry of Projects
  - e) the officer unethically harasses or misleads the members (in their official capacity or the performance of their duties) of the NYGB, its Diplomacy Hobby Services division, Tournament or other activities, the Registry of Projects, or any project registered with the Registry of Projects
3. For registered projects, recognition shall be decided on the basis of the criteria established in the registration.
4. For projects which decline to register and which were never registered, or have no criteria in their registration, recognition shall be decided on the basis of valid title, the performance of the traditional functions under the traditional conditions, and ethical and non-profit conduct.
5. New projects will not be registered or recognized if there is an existing project performing the same function which enjoys valid title, priority or seniority, the performance of the traditional functions under the traditional conditions, and ethical and non-profit conduct.
6. Where two projects are requesting recognition or funding, the question shall be decided on the basis of the performance of the traditional functions under the traditional conditions, and ethical and non-profit conduct. The project filing the contest must submit its proposed registration if it is not already registered.

Jointly enacted by the New York Game House and the Registrar of Projects.
4 January 1986.

Robert L. Liska
Secretary, NYGB
Registrar of Projects

HANSARD

House rules for games in Hansard

General

The publisher is the final judge of all questions and reserves the right to be arbitrary on questions of misconduct.

Preference lists will be used when provided.

Except where provided for in the house rules for a particular game (e.g., Parliament), if you miss your move, the gamemaster will not call collect to get them.

Under extraordinary circumstances, such as postal strikes, or 2/5 of the players in a game missing moves, the gamemaster may delay a game.

Pax Britannica

Orders are submitted for the Movement/Status Change Phase. In the event that Negotiation, Congress of Europe, or War requires player action, the players involved will receive reports and submit orders twice a month (with an additional postage charge for the midmonth reports). The gamemaster will handle all dice-rolling, and make War Phase moves for the Ottoman Empire and minor powers when they are without allies.

The British player may submit set-up orders for the Canadian fleet during his first move; otherwise it will be set-up on the North Atlantic coast.

It is possible for Chinese Armies to remain in existence and for enemy Units to remain in Formosa. The Chinese Armies cannot move through the North or South China Seas to fight the enemy Units in Formosa. In such a case, the Chinese Rebellion can be ended during any War End Determination Phase upon demand of the Chinese enemies. They retain Status markers in Formosa; markers in the Chinese Empire and the other Vassal Areas are removed. All Chinese Armies are removed from the map, and the Chinese Resentment Index is reduced to zero, and then adjusted if Formosa is newly ceded.

After a minor power fights (and wins) a war, fleets may remain in the areas they began.

On the map, Cape Horn and Cape of Good Hope have been mislabeled. Cape Horn is just below South America; Cape of Good Hope is just below Africa.

When Japan is a minor power, set it up with a second Merchant Fleet in the South China Sea.

Orders are conditional on the availability of funds, units, and markers. Orders will be carried out in the sequence specified. Orders may be made conditional on the actions of other players, but if conditional orders involve infinite moves they will be arbitrarily terminated.

If both (2-4) German Navy League Agitation and (2-5) German Colonial Agitation occur in the same game turn, Colonial Office income is quadrupled.

Money is not retained in the Treasury from game turn to game turn.

The only way a minor power gains units is when it garrisons possessions and there are no available units on the map. Other powers garrison possessions conquered during war during the next friendly movement phase.

Status markers removed or downgraded during Congress of Europe do increase tensions.

During forced expenditures ((1-2) Conservative Victory in Britain, (2-2) American "Yellow Press" Journalism, (2-3) French Anti-German Agitation, (2-4) German Navy League Agitation, (2-6) Pan-Slav Agitation in Russia, (3-1) Italian Irredentist Agitation, and (4-1) Japanese War Party Gains Prestige), if there is insufficient income, the priority is maintain appropriate units, maintain holdings, build new units.

During Congress of Europe, a codominion may be granted in a disputed area free of cost.

Events (1-4) Serbia Defies Austria-Hungary, (2-1) War in South America, and (3-6) Boer Oppression of Uitlanders allow the respective powers to purchase control markers, move in armies, and engage in Colonial Combat.

If both (1-5) Upheaval in Russia and (2-6) Pan-Slav Agitation occur in the same game turn, the Russian player has forced expenditure even though he has no Colonial Office income.

If a minor power loses an Influence or control due to unrest, great powers can intervene on later turns. If a minor power places a control marker, great powers may not intervene to place Influence or control markers on the same turn. If two minor powers are active in the same area, they will establish a codominion if possible.

The free grant of codominion status during a Congress of Europe does not require the consent of all the powers with influence in the area, but does not end the casus belli without those consents.
